
VICTORY INDUSTRIAL PRODUCTS CEASES OPERATIONS

Victory Industrial Products, which produces industrial tanks and enclosures, has closed the doors of its headquarters in Batavia Township, Ohio. According to a filing with the Ohio Department of Job and Family Services, Victory Industrial “suddenly and unexpectedly” lost its financing and the facility would be closed permanently. Business Journal reports the company employed 123 people in Batavia and also has a facility near Phoenix that employed 36. Victory Industrial had been in Batavia since building the 100,000 square foot facility in 2006. The company was founded in 1985 as a specialty trailer manufacturer and was sold to an equity firm.
