
BRANDS GET TESTIMONIALS FROM SILICON VALLEY TECHIES

From last few years we can see the entrepreneurs and engineers from Silicon Valley and New York City have appeared in ads. They are not advertising their own brands but promoting car, clothing, and alcohol companies (which are already well known) to help out their favorite charities by giving the entire fees. We can see so many examples promoting other brands and few name are like CEOs of WEB 2.0, VIPs from tech world, Madison Avenue, Foursquare founders Dennis Crowley and Naveen Selvadurai, Tumblr founder and CEO David, Lisa Pfenning. But no one knows how long their popularity will last. Read the original article here: Silicon Valley's Seal of Approval

<https://blog.granted.com/>