
FACEBOOK'S REVENUE MAY DOUBLE IN 2011

Even as some critics say that the social networking site, Facebook is losing its members, the revenue earned by it does not seem to diminish. According to a recent forecast from eMarketer, even though the revenue of Facebook from advertisements has fallen from last year's digits, the Facebook Credit is growing as a sources of income which could reach a record of $4.05 billion worldwide which is twice that of last year's.

Read the original article here: Facebook Could Double Its Revenue in 2011

<https://blog.granted.com/>