
AMERICAN JOBS ACT FEATURES SOP TO UNEMPLOYED

American president Obama's American jobs act has the following prohibitions like employers employing practice to an employer, any provision stating that the unemployed individual will make him loose his employment opportunity and much more. It is also noted that discriminating a person who is still not employed is a poor hiring practice and also adding more legal hoops also marks as strange way of hiring people. It is finally concluded that President cant really help you in this. Read the full article here: American Jobs Act Features Sop to Unemployees - Reason Online \(blog\)
