

JOBS DATA COMPLICATES CENTRAL BANK DECISION

The article discusses the influence of job's data upon central bank's decision to reduce rates. The bank's decision to cut down rates is been not released for the week's jobs data has caused the change in decision. The employment has shown growth and job advertising has grown according to the survey released which states that business has improved in the country.

Read the full article here:

Jobs data complicates central bank decision - The Australian

<https://blog.granted.com/>