

PHILLIPS TAKING OVER GLAMOUR FROM WACKERMANN

Conde Nast has declared that Connie Anne Phillips, who had previously worked with Vogue and InStyle, would be taking over Glamour from Bill Wackermann who was Glamour's publisher since 2004. Mr. Wackermann was rather made executive VP and publishing director at Conde Nast Traveler by Conde. The appointment of Wackermann and Phillips would be effective from July 8. For more details on the article Click Here Where can you find the most Advertising jobs? Click here.

<https://blog.granted.com/>