

CCO WILSON LEAVES DENTSU AMERICA

dentsu

Dentsu America has confirmed that Mike Wilson has left the firm. He was Chief Creative Officer and an executive vice president. Wilson joined the firm in December 2006. No reason was given for his departure. Wilson was previously a group creative director at Ogilvy & Mather. Creative directors Paul Laffy and Bruno Corbo, also previously at Ogilvy, will take over for Wilson as co-lead creative directors. Founded in 1901, Dentsu is one of the largest advertising agency brands in the world. Its headquarters are located in Tokyo. Want to see which advertising agency jobs are available near you? Click here to see.

<https://blog.granted.com/>