

FEATURED EMPLOYERS ON ADVERTISINGCROSSING

AdvertisingCrossing is a job board that features thousands of open positions in the advertising industry across the country. You will find that this site is not like any other job site on the internet. You receive career advice, newsletters, a place to post your resume, and so much more when you become a member.

Each week, the site features a variety of different employers. This week, the four featured employers are Yahoo!, Comcast, Lee Enterprises and Amazon.com Inc.

The featured job this week at Yahoo! is that of Campaign Manager in Omaha, Nebraska. Campaign managers at Yahoo! are responsible for maintaining relationships with clients of the organization and will also support the sales team at the company.

At Comcast, this week's featured job is that of Sales Specialist in Media Sales. This position is responsible for developing and changing sales while also creating proposals and addressing priorities of the department.

The featured job from Lee Enterprises this week is an Advertising Sales Representative. This position will be allowed to build their own client-base, work with those clients, and be rewarded for the work performed. Training and coaching is provided by the company.

At Amazon.com Inc, the featured job this week is that of Head of Creative Services, Advertising. The person who fills this position will be running the Creative Services studios for advertising at the organization.

Visit AdvertisingCrossing today to browse thousands of open jobs in the advertising industry.

Where can you find the most Advertising sales jobs? Click here.