

MORGANFRANKLIN APPOINTS BAQUIE AS HUMAN RESOURCES VP

Washington, DC's MorganFranklin has announced the appointment of Ashley Baquie as vice president of human resources. Baquie will provide strategic HR guidance to the company, mature the human resources department to support MorganFranklin's growth, maintain an outstanding level of employee retention, build a world-class performance management and training program, and enhance the employee experience and employer of choice programs. Baquie has more than 20 years of business experience, with 12 years in HR. Before joining MorganFranklin, she served as human resources director at Unisys Corporation, where she led the Health Information Management division under Federal Systems in HR policies, practices, and programs. Founded in 1998, MorganFranklin is a business and technology solutions company. Its teams combine expertise in accounting and finance, operations and management, advanced technology, and systems with track records of performance in complex environments. The company serves a global client base from its headquarters in Washington DC, and regional offices in Chicago and London.
