
EMORY MEDICAL CENTER GETS NEW V.P OF HUMAN RESOURCES

Emory Eastside Medical Center in Georgia has named Nancy Dwyer the hospital's new vice president of human resources. She previously served as director of H.R. at Henrico Doctors' Hospital.

In her new role Dwyer will be responsible for all human resources operations at both of Emory's campuses—Emory Eastside and Heritage, which have approximately 1,500 employees.

"We are extremely fortunate to add Nancy Dwyer to our senior management team," said Kim Ryan, CEO of Emory Eastside. "Nancy's leadership and successful management experience will help to improve training, reinforce employee relationships, and strengthen our strategies with recruitment and retention."

<https://blog.granted.com/>