
IROBOT APPOINTS RUSSELL J. CAMPANELLO SENIOR VP OF HR

iRobot Corp. has appointed Russell J. Campanello as the company's new senior vice president of human resources. Campanello will be in charge of developing human resources strategies for iRobot, in addition to implementing practices that will help the company maintain and enhance their ability to both attract and develop talented candidates the company needs to create growth looking onward. Colin Angle, the chairman and CEO of iRobot expressed his excitement about the addition of Campanello. He said:

"We are extremely excited that [Campanello] is joining iRobot. His many years of leadership in high-technology organizations and international experience make him a great fit as iRobot continues to expand its worldwide operations. Russ is highly regarded in his profession, and we are looking forward to his contributions in the coming weeks, months and years."

iRobot Corp. is a leader in robotic-based solutions, specializing in both designing and building robots for both home-use and military use.

<https://blog.granted.com/>