
PAPA JOHNS APPOINTS NEW SVP OF HUMAN RESOURCES

One of America's favorite pizza chains has announced a new leader in their human resources department. Anna Calhoun has been named the Senior Vice President, Human Resources of Papa John's International, Inc. President and CEO of Papa Johns, Jude Thompson, had this to say about Calhoun's hire: "Annette has done an outstanding job leading our HR team since 2009, and we are pleased to recognize her efforts with this promotion. I look forward to continuing to work with Annette and our leadership team to keep our culture special and keep our brand moving forward." Calhoun will head up all of the company's global Human Resources functions such as benefits, compensation, organizational and leadership development, employee relations, recruiting, and office services.

<https://blog.granted.com/>