
AMERICAN MEDIA INC. APPOINTS NEW EVP, HUMAN RESOURCES

Daniel Rotstein has been appointed the new Executive Vice President of Human Resources and Administration for American Media Inc. Rotstein held a position in the Human Resources Department at American Media from 1994 to 2008. He will now return to American Media full time as the EVP of HR. "I'm delighted that we're able to bring Daniel back in this capacity," said CEO and President, David J. Pecker. "He has a wealth of experience and a proven track-record here. With his deep understanding of our various properties and platforms, I believe Daniel will play a significant role in the future of AMI." American Media, Inc. is the company that prints magazines such as Star, The National Enquirer, Shape, and Men's Fitness.
