RENAE CONLEY ASSUMES NEW ROLE AS EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT-DESIGNATE

Renae Conley will take on the duties of executive vice president, human resources and administration, for Entergy Corporation, an integrated energy company whose focus is on electric power production and retail distribution operations. Conley will succeed the exiting Terry Seamons, who will be retiring at the year's end. Until then, Seamons will act as an advisor to Conley and retain the duties and title of senior vice president, organizational development.

Before becoming the evp-designate, Conley served as president and CEO of Entergy's Louisiana division since 2000 and up until 2010. She has previous experience as president of Cincinnati Gas and Electric Company. Entergy has annual revenues of over $10 billion and over 15,000 employees.
