

HR PEOPLE & STRATEGY GLOBAL CONFERENCE TO TAKE PLACE DURING APRIL IN TUSCON, ARIZ.

Tuscon, Arizona's JW Marriott Starr Pass will become the home HR People & Strategy's (HRPS) 34th Annual Global Conference between April 3-6.

At the conference, HR executives and strategists from across the globe will gather to discuss human resources approaches and solutions for the current business climate.

"Every year our diverse program of presenters, including successful entrepreneurs, best-selling authors and C-suite HR executives is impressive, but it's the intimate group collaboration and peer-to-peer engagement that sets us apart," said Ann Manikas, Global Conference Co-chair and VP Leadership and Organizational Development at ITW. "For three days, attendees participate in an off-site retreat that allows for personal rejuvenation and leave feeling re-energized and prepared to implement ideas that will immediately benefit their organizations." Over 300 senior HR executives will attend the conference. The HRPS will focus sessions on their five pillars of focus: HR strategy and planning, leadership development, talent management, organizational effectiveness, and building a strategic HR function.
