

---

AFTER A NATURAL DISASTER HAPPENS, WHAT LEAVE ARE EMPLOYEES ENTITLED TO?

The article from HR Morning talks about what employees are known to do after a natural disaster takes place. It's interesting to note that benefits pros were questioning about what they were supposed to be able to give their employees if the employees ask for leave. In short, this shows that a natural disaster does not give you leave in every case, just when you have to take care of immediate family because of related problems that they may be having, or in the case of an injury inflicted on the employee in a natural disaster.

Read the original article here:

FMLA: What employees are entitled to after a natural disaster

<https://blog.granted.com/>