
CEO TURNOVER GOES DOWN SLIGHTLY IN JULY

CEO turnover is finally on the decline. Since the economy has begun to stabilize, so has the perception of American Business, thus making the CEO's look better and them keeping there jobs for longer. The turnover reached its peak in June 2011 at 113 departures, when it was at its 13 month high. In July 2011, it came down slightly and the figure stood at 104.

Read the original article here: CEO Turnover Declines; Executive Search Activity Rises

<https://blog.granted.com/>