

---

GOP TRIES TO REPEAL GRANDFATHER LIMITS IN HEALTHCARE LAW

GOP hopes to halt the grandfathered plans that would restrict employers from asking more from their employees in healthcare reforms, which may require them to extract more from workers' wages. The move against the healthcare reform law is another tactic that Republican House is using to curry the favor of voters to its side in the 2012 elections, so as to regain control of the White House.

Read the original article here: Can GOP repeal grandfather limits? Not likely, but it's trying

<https://blog.granted.com/>