

WHAT DO LONGER HOURS MEAN?

As per the research done by the Human Resource consultancy, Towers Watson says many employers want their employees to work for longer hours for higher output. Now most of the companies have decided to increase their rewards and talent management programs in order to make their employees more comfortable and benefited at work.

Read the full article here:

Do longer hours translate into higher turnover?

<https://blog.granted.com/>