

MANUFACTURER SAVES WITH ULTIPRO

One of the largest manufacturers of hardwood and plywood, Columbia Forest Products, has been able to cut back its original costs by over $100,000 with the help of Ultimate Software's UltiPro. Not only have they been able to save money, they have been able to do so while also improving the efficiency of their Human Resources operations as well as services. This was nothing but good news and Ultimate Software believes that other manufacturers will take an interest in the software because of Columbia Forest Products ability to save so much while still working in an efficient manner. Before relying on UltiPro, back in January of 2011, the Columbia Forest Products Company was hoping to improve many of its processes but they were dealing with expensive upgrades for the payroll service in order for them to achieve such goals, which would be a challenge. The company decided to see if there were any other options they could rely on instead and ended up stumbling across Ultimate Software's UltiPro, which delivers human resources services, as well as payroll and talent management solutions too. The software would not only manage the company in the areas in which it operates, both in the United States and Canada. The vice president of human resources for Columbia Forest Products believes that UltiPro is the best software available; having provided the type of technology that was needed to not only improve processes but help save the company a lot of money. Because of UltiPro, the company is now saving hundreds and thousands of dollars compared to before. The company is also satisfied because it is easier for them to get the information needed, as it is all available on one particular platform. The company has the opportunity to see what is going on with its entire workforce and everything is functioning efficiently and properly. Ultimate provides the utmost services and this company plans to stick with relying on the software. Columbia Forest Products has been able to reduce their annual cost but has also been able to make the right kinds of cuts. The company is able to be more flexible now that they are relying on UltiPro. Ultimate Systems is known for being the leading cloud provider, assisting with a number of different solutions. Its UltiPro system helps with a number of different tasks, ranging from human resources and payroll. It also helps to connect companies with their employees in a faster and efficient way so that they can operate smoothly with absolutely no problems at all. UltiPro can help companies to save a significant amount of money on a yearly basis while continuing to help these companies run in an efficient and effective manner.
