

BUSINESS COMMUNITY SUPPORTS HOUSE JOB TRAINING BILL

The U.S. House Committee on Education and the Workforce approved legislation March 6, 2013, to reform the nation's workforce development system. The bill, known as the SKILLS Act, was introduced Feb. 25 by the House Higher Education and Workforce Training Subcommittee to replace the Workforce Investment Act of 1998 (WIA), which has not been reauthorized since 2003.
