
SQUARE D CUTS MORE JOBS AT NEBRASKA PLANT

SQUARE D®

Square D has announced another round of layoffs at its Lincoln, Nebraska plant. Schneider Electric, the French company that owns Square D, says 22 people will be laid off, effective tomorrow. The company cited the economy as the reason for the staffing cuts. Square D cut 31 jobs at the plant in January. The plant manufactures circuit breakers. Schneider Electric now has 310 employees in Lincoln.
