
SCHLUMBERGER CREATES 400 LOUISIANA JOBS

Schlumberger, the world's largest oil field services company, is expanding operations in Louisiana as the result of a new natural gas find. The $48 million project will create 400 jobs the the Shreveport area. In January, Schlumberger said it would eliminate 1,000 jobs in North America, or 5% of its work force. The company, based in Houston, Paris and The Hague, employs 19,000 in North America and 84,000 worldwide.
