
NORTH CAROLINA CITY MAY CUT 35 JOBS

The Durham, North Carolina City Council will vote on a new budget that would eliminate 35 municipal workers. Seventy-eight vacant positions would also be cut. Some of the laid off workers might be offered other city jobs. The plan also cancels merit raises, and cuts retirement plan contributions.

<https://blog.granted.com/>