
NEW YORK'S ENDICOTT TO CUT 240 JOBS

Endicott, New York-based electronics manufacturer Endicott Interconnect Technologies is cutting 240 jobs from its workforce of 1,800. The firm announced wage and hour reductions for all employees in April. The company makes printed circuit boards. Formerly IBM's microelectronics division, Endicott Interconnect Technologies supplies electronic interconnect solutions and electro/mechanical equipment.

<https://blog.granted.com/>