

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH CUTS JOBS

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch has cut 39 jobs -- 36 in circulation and three in classified. In the past 12 months, the paper has laid off 100 workers. Some jobs will be sent to other divisions of corporate parent Lee Enterprises of Davenport, Iowa. The St. Louis Post-Dispatch is the major city-wide newspaper in St. Louis, Missouri. Although written to serve Greater St. Louis, the Post-Dispatch is one of the largest newspapers in the Midwestern United States, and is available and read as far west as Kansas City, Missouri, as far south as Memphis, Tennessee, and as far north as Springfield, Illinois.
