
GENERAL DYNAMICS TO CREATE 20 ARKANSAS JOBS

General Dynamics Land Systems-Canada has awarded General Dynamics Armament & Technical Products the contract to manufacture armor for military vehicles, creating 20 jobs at the General Dynamics plant in Camden, Arkansas. The defense contract is worth $150 million. The Arkansas Economic Development Commission awarded General Dynamics a grant for purchase of production-related equipment. The jobs will start this coming January. Falls Church, Virginia-based General Dynamics Corporation is a defense conglomerate formed by mergers and divestitures, and as of 2008 it is the fifth largest defense contractor in the world.
