
NCR TO MOVE HQ TO GA, EMPLOY 2K

NCR, the world's leading manufacturer of automated teller machines, is relocating its corporate headquarters to Duluth, Georgia, a suburb of Atlanta, creating 2,000 jobs over the next five years. The firm's headquarters was formerly in Dayton, Ohio. The Buckeye State offered NCR a $31.1 million incentive package to stay. The incentives offered by the state of Georgia have not been detailed. NCR's headquarters move will bring 1,250 jobs to Duluth. The company is also opening a factory in Columbus, which will employ 870 Georgians. NCR Corporation is a technology company specializing in products for the retail and financial sectors. Its main products are point-of-sale terminals, automatic teller machines, check processing systems, barcode scanners, and business consumables. They also are one of the largest providers of IT maintenance support services. The company was founded in 1884.
