
SYMMETRICOM TO CUT 30 JOBS

San Jose, California's Symmetricom will cut 30 jobs, or 4% of its workforce. In January, the firm said it would let go 100 people this year. Symmetricom is a supplier of timing and synchronization hardware, software and services. The Company sells its solutions to communication service providers, government agencies, enterprises and research facilities. Symmetricom's products include atomic frequency references; including rubidium and cesium oscillators; hydrogen masers; global positioning system time and frequency receivers, as well as time and frequency distribution systems; network management software; video quality monitoring solutions, and professional services.

<https://blog.granted.com/>