ANTIOCH, CA SCHOOLS CUT 6 TOP ADMINISTRATORS

The Antioch, California Unified School District Board has eliminated six top administrative positions, cutting $825,000 from the 2009-10 budget. The eliminated positions are chief academic officer, human resources director, extended education official, coordinator for student support services, and two assistant superintendents. Earlier this year the board laid off its public information officer. The school district is looking to cut $6 million, in the wake of a $21 million cut in state funds. Antioch is a city in Contra Costa County, California. Located in the East Bay region of the San Francisco Bay Area along the San Joaquin-Sacramento River Delta, it is a suburb of San Francisco and Oakland. The population was 90,532 at the 2000 census. The district has three high schools, four middle schools, and 16 elementary schools.
