CINCINNATI BRACES FOR HUNDREDS OF LAYOFFS

A drop in tax income is spurring the city of Cincinnati to consider laying off hundreds of city workers. City officials project a deficit of $28 million for 2009, up from an earlier estimate of $20 million. Cincinnati may also reduce call center hours, review consultant contracts and limit supplies. Department heads have been instructed to consider staff layoffs. Cincinnati, Ohio is located on the Ohio River at the Ohio-Kentucky border. The population was 333,336 in 2008, making it the state's third largest city.
