
GO DADDY HIRING BILINGUAL CALL CENTER WORKERS

Scottsdale, Arizona-based web hosting firm Go Daddy is hiring bilingual Spanish-speakers for its Scottsdale call center, as business from Mexico and other Spanish-speaking countries grows. The firm is hiring 20 customer service people to handle calls from the US and Canada, plus Mexico, Spain, and Argentina. Last month, the firm hired 20 Spanish speakers for its Tempe call center. The jobs pay $14.50 per hour after 90 days. Go Daddy is an Internet domain registrar and web hosting company that also sells e-business related software and services. It has 30 million domain names under management. Go Daddy is currently the largest ICANN-accredited registrar in the world, and is three times the size of its closest competitor. Go Daddy has 2,100 employees in Arizona.
