WASTE NOT TECHNOLOGIES TO CREATE 1,400 JOBS IN MICHIGAN

Florida's Waste Not Technologies has proposed building a recycling center in Van Buren County, Michigan, creating 1,400 new jobs. The center, a $150 million investment, would reclaim raw materials for local manufacturers, such as those making shipping pallets or railroad ties. The facility would accept residential recyclables, such as cardboard, plastic and tin. Waste Not Technologies of Destin, Florida provides eco-friendly products created from municipal solid waste. It is the holding company for individual industrial GreenParks located in communities throughout the United States. Each individual GreenPark will have nine interrelated manufacturing subsidiaries.
