
JOBS OF THE FUTURE? ONLY TIME WILL TELL

A government-funded program in the U.K., which was designed to promote the understanding of science to the general public, has unveiled an interesting list of 20 jobs that we could be doing within the next 20 years because of developments in science and technology. Assisted by Fast Future Research, Science [So What? So everything] asked “futurists” and “future thinkers” to consider potential science and technological advances that are upcoming and then formulate a list of specific jobs that could follow. To view the complete list, click here.

<https://blog.granted.com/>