

32,000 JOBS PROJECTED FROM ONLINE GAMBLING RESEARCH REPORT

British research and consulting firm H2 Gambling Capital has produced a new report that could facilitate the creation of legalized online gambling. The reason is simple: the report estimates the creation of 32,000 new jobs and $57.5 billion in tax revenue over a 5-year period. "This study should provide further incentive for the Obama administration and Congress to act quickly to regulate Internet gambling," said Simon Holliday, a director at H2. HR2267 is Congressman Barney Frank's efforts to create such legislation, and the new information is a boon. Congressman Jim McDermott has a complementary tax proposal which also stands to benefit from the new report.
