JOB SEARCH TIPS FOR STUDENTS

These are some tips students can follow to get a good job. They need to write a good resume, showing their individual skills and contributions made to accomplish a task, along with a cover letter, and proofread them. Students also need to do some research on an organization, regarding its business for a well-prepared interview. Job seekers need to present themselves well during an interview with the proper attire. Students can get good job contacts through their professors, colleagues, and alumni association etc., to get in touch with prospective employers. Senior students can start looking for a job right after graduation. Read the original article here: A primer for student job hunters - Globe and Mail
