
VECTOR AEROSPACE BRINGING 100 NEW JOBS TO ALABAMA

Vector Aerospace, a company that provides maintenance and repair services to commercial and military helicopters, has signed a deal with local governments that will lead to the expansion of their southern Alabama facility. The expansion is expected to bring in 100 new jobs, most which will come in the next few months. Vector operates facilities in the US, UK, Canada and South Africa, providing support for various types of turbine engines, dynamic components, structures and avionics.
