
AIRBUS MAY INCREASE OUTPUT OF A320 JETS

Currently Airbus is producing only 25 single-aisle jets and will be increasing their production of A320 jets to 42 planes a month in the first quarter of 2012. They are looking into seeing if they can increase their quota even more. While they know it will be a stretch they are going to try. A statement will be released soon if they are able to increase the quota more.

Read the original article here: Airbus to boost A320 output to 42/month -sources

<https://blog.granted.com/>