

---

IS ENOUGH HELP BEING PROVIDED TO YOUNG ENTREPRENEURS?

In these hard economic times, entrepreneurs probably aren't getting the amount of help that they need, and that's especially true for young ones. Getting loans backed by the SBA, which issues loans to small businesses on the government behalf, is getting more and more difficult because the loans process is harder for new businesses simply because they don't qualify for these loans. And with most of the growth of the economy coming from this fast growing area, the loan process for should be easier so there is more growth. Read the full article here: Are Young Entrepreneurs Getting Enough Help?

<https://blog.granted.com/>