

---

RECESSION RISK GROWS WITH ZERO JOBS GROWTH

The risk of a double dip recession is becoming more real with the August jobs report from the BLS showing that the country had zero jobs growth last month. Some economists are saying that there could still be more problems ahead and that the worst is yet to come. Fed Chairman Ben Bernanke has said that his institution is considering giving additional support but there are limits to that too. He has urged Congress to step in and avoid partisan politics. Read the original article here: With zero jobs, recession risk just got worse

<https://blog.granted.com/>