

ENTREPRENEURFINDER.COM LAUNCHES AND INTERACTIVE EMPLOYMENT WEBSITE

EntrepreneurFinder.com is inviting people to reserve their company username URL or personal username to have early access to their website. EntrepreneurFinder.com is an interactive website, employment search, and information resource that are designed to be used by students, investors, professionals, and entrepreneurs. They currently have over 4,500 investor groups, and over 40,000 individual accredited investors in over 30 countries. Right now it has the largest searchable collection of investor profiles online. You can also use this website to find jobs, as they advertise many employment opportunities from start-up companies up to Fortune 500 companies around the world. If you are looking for a job, you have a great chance at landing a good one on this website if you take the time to search for one properly. If you are looking to find a mentor, form new industry contacts, searching for a job or freelance opportunities, looking for internship opportunities, want to raise capital to be used for a startup business or for an existing business, want to search for companies that are looking for funding, searching for a business partner, need to hire employees for your company, a freelancer or intern, want to stay current with business resources, news, and information, and want to have access to an extensive directory of international and local trade shows and events, then EntrepreneurFinder.com is the website for you. Luke Deering, the founder of Entrepreneur Finder, says, "According to The Kauffman Foundation, startups are directly responsible for over 20% of new jobs created each year. In this time of employment uncertainty, we must do all we can to nurture entrepreneurs and provide them with the best resources possible, so they can create the jobs that our economy so badly needs."

EntrepreneurFinder.com matches your information, requirements and interests with companies and individuals that you are looking for. Once you sign up with EntrepreneurFinder.com, you create your profile, and then other users will have access to contact you, and can find you by utilizing their searching and matching features. As a member, you will have free access to the public groups on the site, the private businesses, current news, university groups, a Q&A section on the site, and many other helpful resources. EntrepreneurFinder.com also has two recruitment services. There is a job board on their website, where you are able to post employment and internship opportunities. There is also an advanced search feature that you can use that allows you to find companies and members using specific attributes. This will make it easier for you to find employment through their site. The site was designed so that the entrepreneurial world and the professional world could come together and interact with each other to help further your career or expand your company. They like to think of it as a Silicon Valley at your fingertips.
