

AFTER LOSING JOBS, TWO PEOPLE START COOKING

This article shows that even in these tough economic times opportunities still exist. Read about how two friends who both lost good jobs took their love for food and created both a business and a new opportunity to make a living doing something they truly love. This is an encouraging story for those struggling. Read the full article here: Cooking up a life after job loss - Today's THV

<https://blog.granted.com/>