

BOOSTING YOUR EXECUTIVE JOB SEARCH WITH #CDISST

Novel new internet tools can provide help for an executive job search. One such tool is the Twitter hashtag #cdisst from Career Directors International (CDI). CDI consists of resume writers and career pros that are available to help job seekers. A hashtag is a word/letter preceded by a #, which enables access to certain information. For the case of #cdisst, this hashtag enables access to many categories of executive job seeking advice. Other hash words such as #jobsearch and #personalbranding, provide similar services. Twitter has many more such hashtags and are excellent sources of information for executive job seekers. Branding your resume is a common technique suggested by hashtags before applying to each new executive position.
