

GUN INDUSTRY FACES UNCERTAIN FUTURE

The article is about gun industry facing an unpleasant future due to the massacre at Sandy Hook in Connecticut. The sales of gun industry was good before the presidential elections since buyers thought that Obama would impose a ban on few firearms. Post the massacre, a certain variety of gun may be banned from the gun market. The sales of the guns might go down further since the Democratic lawmakers said they would introduce tougher legislation. Read the full article here:
