

UK DOWNGRADE PRESSURES RELUCTANT OSBORNE TO CHANGE COURSE

British finance minister George Osborne is facing extreme pressure since Moody's downgraded the country's credit rating. Osborne is trying to keep the country in an austerity mood, but that could be politically hard to survive. The people of the country do not like austerity and are unhappy with the finance minister. The credit rating companies are urging the countries to be fiscally responsible.

Read the full article here:

UK downgrade pressures reluctant Osborne to change course

<https://blog.granted.com/>