MEXICO & BRAZIL FACING ECONOMIC MELTDOWN.

The article which is about the EMERGING MARKETS-Mexico stocks lowest since November, Brazil down, A further drop could take the index to its lowest level since last November. If bargain hunters don't jump in soon, a strong break of the 56,000 level could bode for further losses. Concerns about sluggish domestic growth and rising inflation have made Brazil's stock market one of the world's worst performers in recent months, but it should bounce back by year end, a Reuters poll found.
