

GLOBAL ECONOMY'S MIXED SIGNALS

The data from all over the world on the gross domestic product show a complete mix of the trends. As with Europe, the result are not promising as there is a slowdown by 0.1 percent. Economy in China is unlikely to change. The U.S. markets are also expecting a slowdown in the second quarter. Japan is to benefit from the accommodative policies. For more details on the article Click Here

<https://blog.granted.com/>