

---

PUMP PRICES FALLING

Good news for auto travelers in the US: the price of gas has been dropping. Declines in the Mid-west averaged 40 cents per gallon. With spring storms, many refineries were off line for a while, and when they returned to operations the shortage of gas was relieved and prices were allowed to fall. The prices are expected to remain lower throughout August. For more details on the article Click Here

<https://blog.granted.com/>