

OBAMA UNVEILS AFRICAN ELECTRICAL POWER INITIATIVE

During President Obama's recent visit to Africa, a $7 billion initiative was announced that will help to bring electrical power to more sections of the continent. In sub-Saharan Africa, the access to power could double over the next five years. Two-thirds of Africans currently lack power. An increase in electricity is expected to help businesses, allow children longer hours to study and keep vaccines safely refrigerated. For more details on the article Click Here
