

EXCLUSIVE CREDIT REPAIR LEADS

If you own or work for a credit repair business, or you are considering starting a credit repair business, you may have at one time or another considered purchasing exclusive credit repair leads.

For starters, the purchase of credit repair leads is a wise choice for your company because the people that fill out these on line forms for credit repair are serious about getting their credit fixed.

They are not simply surfing the net, looking for information or a free ride. The minute they filled out the form and hit submit, they committed themselves to seeking the help of credit repair professionals and are waiting on a phone call.

Exclusive credit repair leads can be purchased relatively cheap, so it may be in your best interest to buy them that way and eliminate any competition.

Of course before you go and commit yourself to purchasing exclusive credit repair leads, you will want to make sure that they are exactly that.

You certainly don't want to be purchasing leads that are old or have been recycled.

So before you commit to a credit repair company, call and speak with someone in customer service. Find out how they obtain their leads and how they will be delivered to you.

If you cannot get a hold of anyone in customer service, or you are not satisfied with their answers, than move onto the next credit repair company.

Remember, you work hard for your money, so if you are not happy with the customer service or the answers that they give you, than you can count on not being happy with leads they send you.
